FlexTraining Login & Go: On-demand Cloud-Based Training

Why FlexTraining Login & Go?

Consider the way your company or organization operates. You depend on the performance of your leaders, your managers and staff. Can you think of some members of your talent pool who perform best when they are properly trained and educated? Would improved performance be worth $4 - $7 per month? If so, online training as a strategy can pay for itself immediately.

Perhaps you are already doing face-to-face training or using hard-to-track PowerPoints and documents. Put your courses online, and add another layer of savings and improvements. We make it happen through secure online training and testing solutions for your employees, customers, or clients who require one-time or recurrent training.

We deliver and track online education for over two million online learners. Save time, save money, increase revenues, energize your training, meet deadlines, track certifications, and improve performance with Login & Go. Rapidly build your own online courses from templates based on best practices and proven techniques.

Our Vision

We believe that on-demand training should be available to public and private sector customers of all sizes and within all markets. Therefore it should be streamlined and effective, should allow customers to re-use their existing training materials, and should yield a very low overall cost of ownership.

In addition, we promote simplicity by offering a complete solution from a single source, with no technology costs and nothing to purchase. We also offer a choice between a complete turnkey education facility and a do-it-yourself tool set with built-in course authoring.
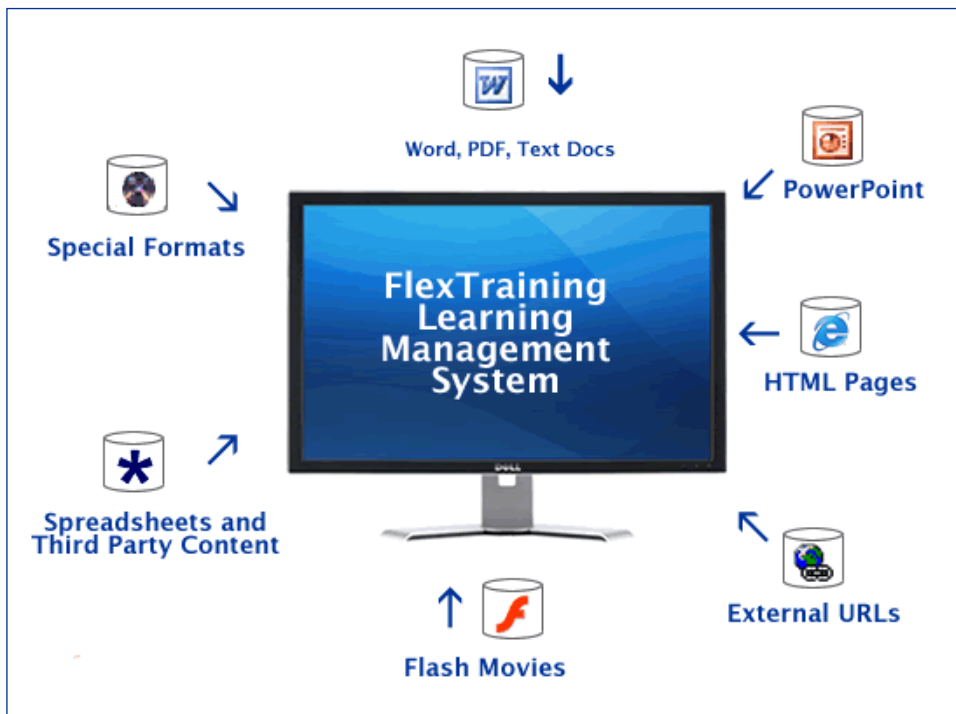

We provide choices, simplification, flexibility and results. Call us at 813.264.2046 or send an email to rep@flextraining.com to get a quote and/or see examples.

A 24/7 Online Private Training Center – From Anywhere

Some companies do not have a web server or are not interested in licensing an E-Learning Software package. For these organizations, our Login & Go service is the perfect answer. Subscribers have a complete template-based authoring, management and training system with built-in security and comprehensive reporting.

Our built in learning templates, dynamic images and multimedia support give you a powerful E-Learning toolset. All system features are available in the cloud, including course authoring, curriculum planning, results-tracking, testing, and uploading and downloading student data.

It is important for our customer to be able to re-use the training materials they may already have, in various forms.
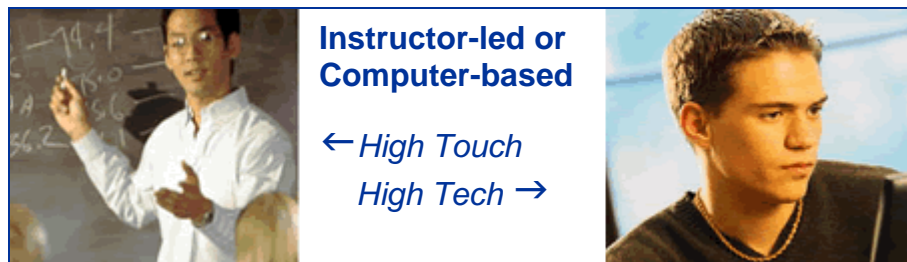

FlexTraining E-Learning Software

A Private, Secure Hosted Training Center is Cost-Effective

We call it "Login & Go", and you can use it to sell courses, train new hires, perform compliance training, offer customer education or for any online training project. Launch a small 100-user subscription or a full-blown, secure, branded long-term solution for thousands of online learners.

Each private training center delivers the following benefits:

- ✓ Start training this week, not months from now
- ✓ Re-use existing training material (videos, text, movies, images, etc.)
- ✓ No need for large up-front investment
- ✓ Very low per-student costs per month
- ✓ Reliable 24 X 7 system availability
- ✓ Secure menus for managers, instructors, course developers
- ✓ Standards-based design for performance and simplicity
- ✓ No need to buy or Install Software

Instructor-led or Computer-based

←High Touch

High Tech →

FlexTraining is a learning management system powerful enough for the enterprise, yet so simple that you can be delivering interactive education in hours rather than weeks.

Do you have a budget and a timeframe in mind? Let's work together to meet your goals.
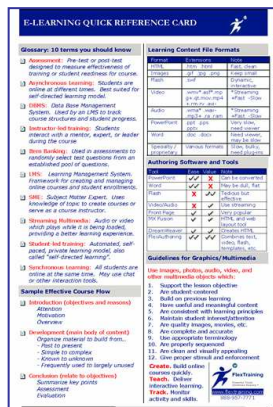

Other Available Information

Online Training Ideas Book

Your E-Learning Consultant may provide you with our high-level Ideas Book. This summary booklet discusses content development, collaboration and the importance of measuring results. Other topics include using the right tools and formats, and the latest E-Learning best practices.

FlexTraining Info Book

Ask your E-Learning Consultant about this detailed booklet that covers features, benefits, options, and implementation strategies. Includes selected case studies, comparisons, and training concepts.

E-Learning Quick Reference Card

On one side it's a Project Checklist, with simple steps to build and launch online courses. On the other side is a handy glossary, a suggested course flow for course authors, and guidelines for using different types of common file formats such as PowerPoint and Flash.